for the boats on his Tehuantepec line, say hundred miles per day,-then thirty-two would be the time by the Suez line. That AN ACT PROVIDING FOR RECIPROCAL DUwill be the speed and time in a few months be safely predicted, as the Peninsular and Oriental Company have contracted for an iron steamer of 3,500 tons burthen, and 1,200 horse- of the Hawaiian Islands, in council assembled :

we must give the boats of the different lines the free of all duty, provided the government of the Unisame speed, the question is the distance, and here ted States will admit the sugar, syrup of sugar, moeither Mr. Burwell or the editor of the New York Courier and Enquirer has made a great mistake in into all the ports of the United States, on the same tons register, new coppered and in good order for any voyage, apply to MAKEE, ANTHON & Co. inferring that this Tehuantepec route from Liverpool to Canton is only one thousand miles longer than "that in the directly opposite direction" by which of course he must mean the regular mail route from Southampton to Hong Kong via the fathmus of Suez. Any one who will take the tomble to measure the distance on this route, will find them in round numbers as follows:

Miles. Days. Southampton to Alexandria (steamer) 3,100 10 Alexandria to Suez (railw. constructing) 150 1 Suez to Point de Galle (steamer) 3,300 11 Point de Galle to Singapore (do.) 1,500 5 Singapore to Hong Kong (do.) 1,300 5 9,350 32 Shewing a difference in a favor of the ) 4,075 10

The Tehuautepec route being according to Mr. Burwell's calculation. 13,425 42 but this distance is understated by this gentleman; for instance he calls it 5,144 miles from San Francisco to Canton whereas it is about 6000 miles.

This Tehuantepec route indeed seems throughout one of those only possible on paper; the very first stage from Liverpool via Galway to New York, has never been considered of the slightest Hawaii. practical importance by any but theorists and Irishmen, every extra transfer of goods and pas-Inshmen, every extra transfer of goods and passengers being one of the most serious objections to Lady of Monsieur J. The deceased lady was a native of Winchester, England. be necessary between Cape Canso and New York or berween New York and New Orleans, nor am I acquainted with the attractions of Lynchburg or the facilities of getting on at Chattanogo, or the nerous places mentioned on this section of the line, but I am afraid that the inevitable transfer of passengers and baggage at Dublin, Galway, Cape Canso, New Orleans, on each side the Isthmus and finally at San Francisco would condemn this route for passengers and goods, even though it were one thousand miles shorter than any other, but being 4000 miles longer than the one now in operation, it certainly has no chance.

I should not have taken the trouble to enter into these particulars to refute the idea of a route so palpably ridiculous, was I not aware that there is a pretty general, but vague impression in England as well as in the United States, that the nearest and best way from Europe to the East will be somewhere across the Pacific, when the necessary canals or railways are constructed on the North American Continent. A careful measurement of the distances however shows this impression to be a mistaken one—for even though a ship canal were cut through the Isthmus of Panama, it would be shorter to go from London to Canton round the Cape of Good Hope, either by steamer or sailing vessel than across the Pacific occan!

But surely this great projected railroad across the rocky mountains will make the Pacific route

When we talk of the East or Asia, it must be remembered that all the calculations are merely to with all her fixtures.

China. To all the great marts of the East .-- Bombay, Calcutta, Singapore, &c., the advantage is out of all comparison in favor of the present English mail route, by which Bombay for instance is only about 20 days run from London, whereas it only about 20 days run from London, whereas it consisting of a large assortment of English French. it would be upwards of 50 days by the Pacific route. People do not consider that the distance from Bombay to Canton is more than half that from London to Bombay.

Now however flattering and satisfactory it may be to the people on an expected new route to anticipate the advantage of a great traffic passing through their hands, it is childish to ignore facts and tamper with figures in making the calculations, and as all of us in Honolulu would be greatly delighted at the idea of being made a depot on the route from Europe to the East!—a calm refrence tothe facts of the case may prevent us indulging in hopes which can never be realized. I am, Sir, Your most obt. Servant,
